Boarding Pass is a five-level series aligned to the Bachillerato Tecnológico program updated contents.

Boarding Pass provides a chance for students to explore the world, develop the four language skills, personalize and create learning evidence throughout every module.

Key features

- Clear grammar presentations with videos and active practice.
- Four-skills integration and self-assessment.
- Emphasis on the use of language for communicative purposes, demonstrating students the language relevance and practical use in the real world.
- An innovative STEAM section where students can put into practice knowledge from different content areas such as, Science, Technology, Engineering, Art and Math.
- An integrated practice book where students can use the vocabulary and grammar learned throughout the lesson.
- Dynamic pair and group activities along the modules.

How to use Boarding Pass' tech resources?

Your book has four types of technological resources: Grammar Pass, Reading Journey, Your Boarding Pass, and Augmented Reality.

Let's see how they work!

Grammar Pass: Scan the QR code with your phone and watch a video about the grammar topic you're checking.

Reading Journey: Scan the QR code with your phone and see an interactive reading where you can tap the highlighted words, or sentences to learn their meaning. Also, you can practice with an extra exercise on your phone.

Your Boarding Pass: Scan the QR code with your phone and watch a video about the topic at the end of each module.

Vocab Plus: Scan the QR code and find extra vocabulary in each lesson!

Augmented Reality: Download the Delta Resources app from the Google Play Store or the Apple App Store. Tap on the image in your book that says AR to download it. Then, tap again on the book and point your camera at the AR page in your book. You can scan the QR code to see how to do it!

Module

Complete the text below with your own information.

My name is _____ and I have studied in this school since _____.

I like / don't like going out. My favorite food is _____ and the restaurant I like going to is _____. When I'm on vacation, I like to go to _____ and _____. The place that I've visited the most is _____.

For my next holiday, I am _____ and _____.

Science fiction

Science fiction is about stories that are a combination of science and technology, usually about the future. The stories are based on concepts of science and include theories that can be a mix of reality and fiction. However, this scientific base is important because, if the stories are not believable, they fall into fantasy.

Many times, the stories include opportunities to explain the effects of human behaviors, discoveries and actions for the future of the planet, or even the universe.

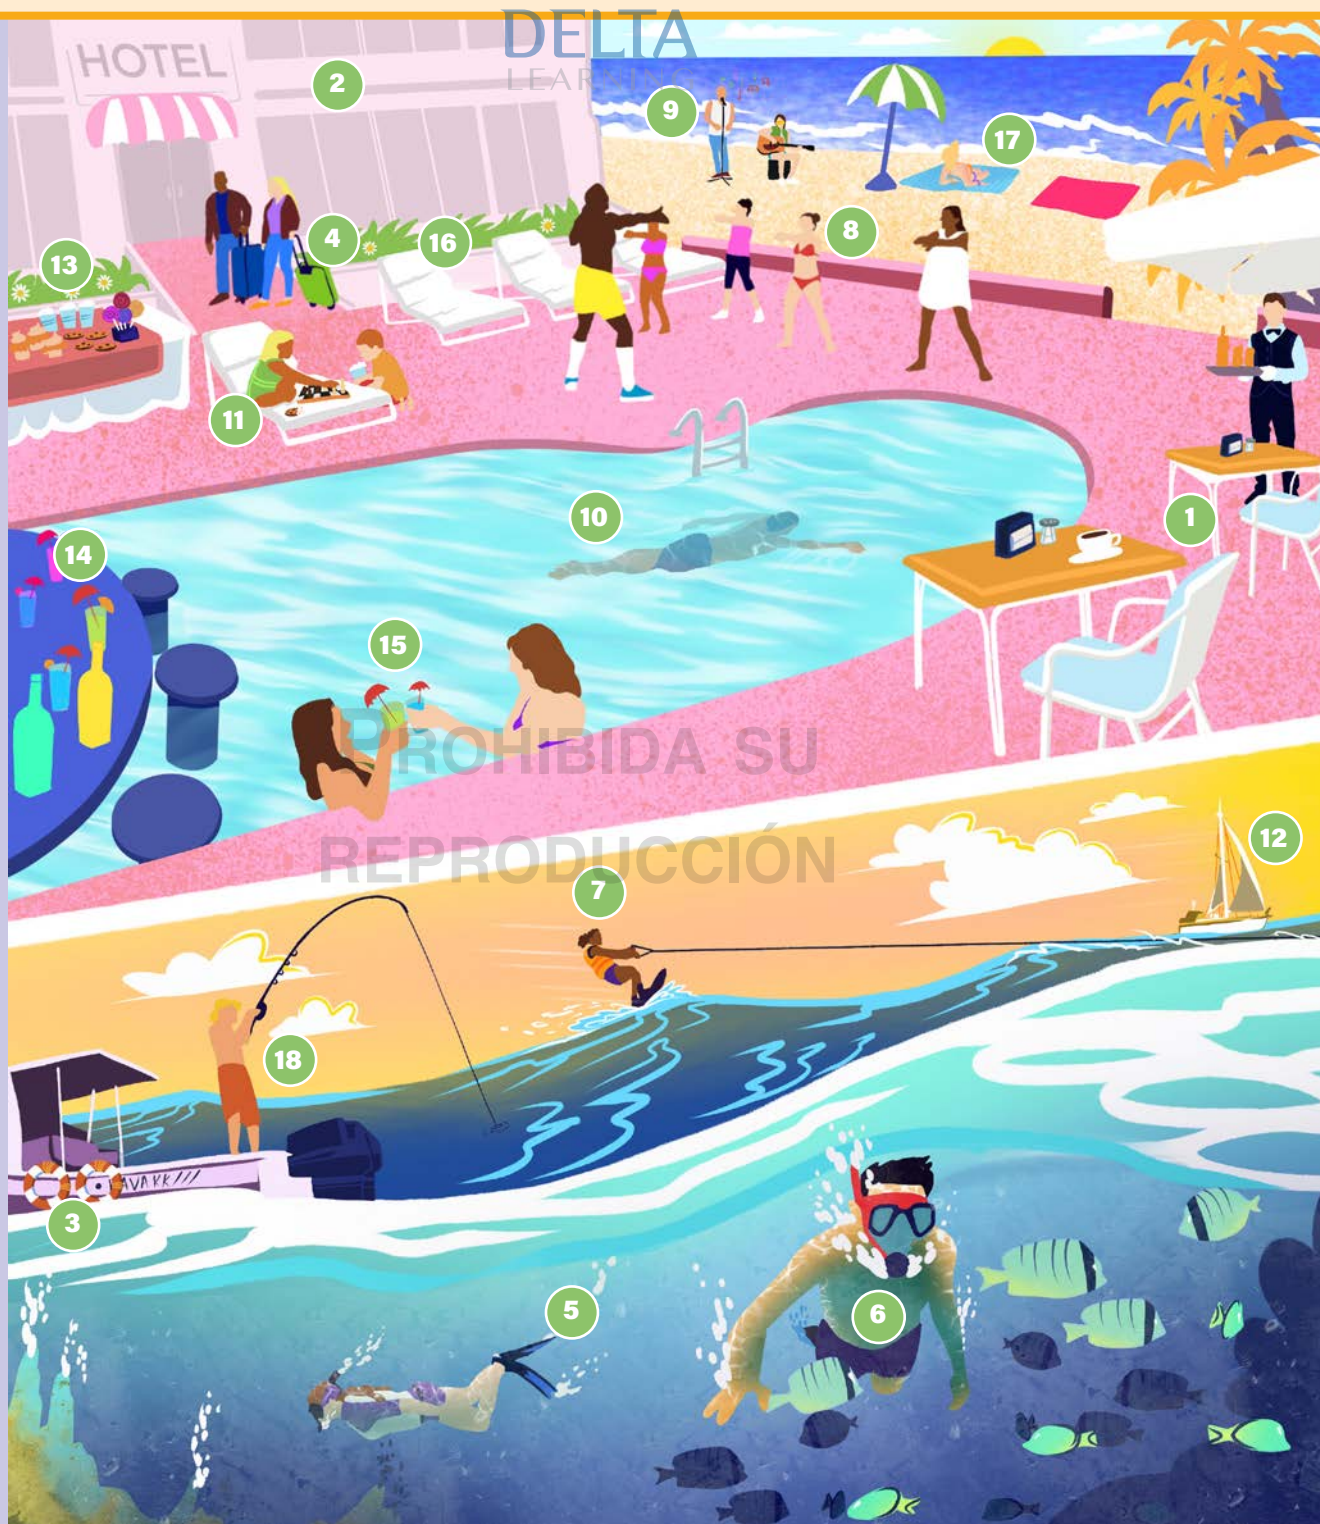

The project

- Work in small groups and choose a science fiction movie that you like. (Be careful not to choose fantasy film!)

- Select one object of the future from the movie. Make sure the object does not exist today.
- Discuss how realistic this object could be. Ask as many questions as you can to analyze the possibility.
- Prepare a short presentation for your class where you present a picture of the object and you will tell your classmates:
 - Why you think this object could really exist in the future.
 - Or why you think this object could not exist in the future?
 - What science principles does it follow?
 - What science principles does it break?

C. Work in pairs and talk about the types of restaurants that you like visiting the most.

I love going to Chinese restaurants because the food is delicious.

I prefer snack bars or fast-food restaurants. I'm very simple.

We use the modal would and the verb like in the interrogative form to make invitations. Look at the structure:

Would + subject + like + complements?

Would you like another cup of coffee?

Would you like to come to the party?

You can accept or refuse an invitation in a simple manner, e.g.

- | | |
|---|--------------------------------|
| - Would you like to have an ice-cream? | - Yes, please. (accept) |
| - Would you like to play cards? | - No, thanks. (refuse) |

However, in more formal situations or to be more polite, you may use the following answers:

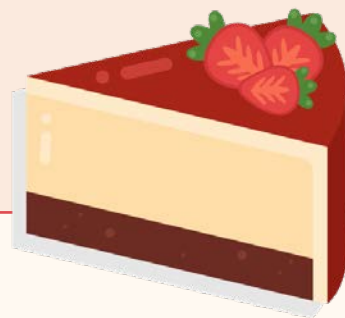

- | | |
|--|---|
| - Would you like to spend the holidays with us? | - I would love to. (accept) |
| - Would you like to go for a drink? | - I would love to, but I can't. (refuse) |

You can also use would to express requests:

I would like a coffee, please.

I'd like a piece of cake.

Note: 'd is the contraction of would.

Try it yourself!

D. Unscramble the following questions.

- | | |

G. Work with a partner and answer the following questions.

1. Do you like eating out?
2. What is the best restaurant in your town or city?

Track 3 H. Read the text very quickly and answer the question.

Does the writer prefer expensive or simple restaurants? _____

My favorite restaurant

Mexican cuisine has always been recognized around the world. This is due to its diversity of flavors and the richness of its ingredients. There is a wave of famous Mexican chefs who own very expensive restaurants. However, I have to say that I prefer a local restaurant in my hometown.

Its name is "El rincón del sabor" and it serves amazing dishes. I often go there for dinner or to have a few drinks with friends. A couple of weeks ago, for example, I went to celebrate a birthday party for one of my friends. We had a wonderful time, and the best thing was the desserts. We had all kinds of sweet treats that everybody enjoyed. We ended the evening saying "cheers!" to my friend and enjoyed the ambient music.

I sometimes also go there for lunch. They serve wonderful three-course meals with a wide variety of options, including different types of soups, salads, and main courses. I am a carnivore, so I enjoy the ones with meat, but there are also options for vegetarians. The owner recently opened a snack bar in the town's stadium, where he sells fast food, as well as hot and cold drinks. It is very successful and people like it a lot. If you ever visit León, don't miss it.

I. Read the text again and answer the questions.

1. Why is Mexican cuisine recognized around the world?

2. What is the name of the author's favorite restaurant?

3. What was the best thing of the birthday party?

4. What kind of dishes does the author prefer?

5. Where does the author live?

Speaking

Writing

J. Get in groups of 3-5 students. Discuss what dishes you would include if you were restaurant owners. Design a restaurant menu.

K. Read the questions and share your answers with your classmates:

1. When was the last time you visited a mall's food court?
2. Do you have a favorite restaurant?
3. What do you usually order?

Listening

Track 4

L. Steve and Angie are having lunch in the food court. Listen to the conversation and answer the question:

Where are they ordering food? _____

M. Listen again and decide if the sentences are True or False.

1. Steve wants to have sushi. _____
2. Angie doesn't like eating salads. _____
3. Steve wants to have the mega super combo. _____
4. Angie is allergic to cheese. _____
5. Angie wants to use a coupon. _____
6. Steve doesn't want to have dessert. _____

Writing

N. Work in pairs. You are going to write a dialogue between a waitress of a fast-food restaurant and a customer. You can check the transcript of Steve and Angie's conversation as a model.

_____	_____
_____	_____
_____	_____
_____	_____
_____	_____

Project

O. Record a video in which you roleplay the conversation you prepared in activity N.

Hi, welcome to Happy Burger.

C. Discuss the following questions with a partner.

1. What is your favorite place to go on vacation?
2. What do you like doing when you are on vacation?
3. Who do you usually go on vacation with?

Present continuous for future plans

As you may remember, we use the present continuous tense to talk about: a) events happening at the moment of speaking (I am reading the explanation right now) and b) temporary states or events (I'm living in a rented apartment but soon will go back to my house.)

We can also use the present continuous to talk about plans and arrangements.

My next vacation

Hello, everyone, and welcome to this week's entry of my blog. This time I'm going to talk about my next holiday plans. As you know I love travelling, so I think it's very important to plan things ahead if you want your trip to be a good experience. This time I'm planning to go to Acapulco, so I'm buying my airplane ticket next week. I want to save some money, so I'm only taking one carry-on suitcase, instead of the three pieces of baggage that I usually take. It's hard for me because I usually don't travel light, but I'm only taking the essential clothes, my sun cream, and my sandals, but I'm not taking my flippers.

For that same reason, I'm not booking a hotel; I'm staying at a campsite near the beach instead. And I'm not going on a cruise since it is very expensive. I have checked some of the options available and I'm going to a water park with different rides and pools, where I can get tanned lying on a sun bed. It's been a while since I last went to the beach so I'm quite excited about this trip.

What about you? What are you doing in your next holiday? Write your comments and share with us what your plans are. I'm sure you have lots of fun things to do.

Welcome to India!

India is the second most populated country in the world, with a very interesting history and many places to visit.

Delhi City

Delhi is the second largest city in India in terms of population, after Mumbai. The growth of its economy is due to a number of industries, such as fashion, IT, electronic, and textile. New Delhi is the capital of India and one of the nine districts of Delhi City.

Bollywood

Bollywood is the largest of the Indian film industries. It is located in Mumbai (known before as Bombay). The word Bollywood is the combination of "Bombay" and "Hollywood". The Indian film industry is the largest in the world in terms of number of films made per year. They produce between 1,500 and 2,000 movies every year across twenty languages.

Bangalore

Another city that has a reference to a famous place in the world is Bangalore. It is known as Silicon Valley of India because of the number of software companies existing there. It is one of the most important commercial centers in the country and it continues to grow very fast. Besides this, the city has numerous attractions for tourists to visit: gardens, museums, temples, and palaces.

Let's reflect!

Discuss the following questions in small groups:

- Have you ever watched a Bollywood film?
- Is there a place in Mexico similar to Bollywood or Hollywood?
- Would you like to watch a Bollywood film? Why? Why not?

Fun facts

Did you know that...

- Delhi and New Delhi are actually two different places? New Delhi is a territory within the larger Delhi.
- Every year Bollywood creates at least 800 films and sells four billion tickets?
- Bangalore is home to many well-known universities and research institutes.

Class project

What are the most popular movie genres?

- Work in small groups and create a questionnaire to find out:
 - Your classmates favorite movie genres.
 - Their favorite movie.
 - Their favorite actor or actress.
- Collect the information and present it using: PowerPoint, Genially or Google slides. Make sure it is interesting and attractive.
- Then, do a short presentation where you talk about your results. What are the most popular answers?

Fun zone

I spy

You can play this game in pairs or small groups.

DIRECTIONS:

- Choose an object to refer to from the vocabulary you have been learning and the say: 'I spy with my little eye something beginning with (choose a letter).'
- Your partner or partners must try to guess what you are thinking of.
- The person who guesses correctly gets a point.
- Take turns to switch roles.

Study tips

Flashcards

Create small flashcards to study vocabulary or even verbs.

You can use them to quiz yourself and study before a test.

You can use pictures on one side and the word on the other side of the card.

If you prefer verbs, you can write the simple form on one side, and the past and past participle on the other.
